Workspace

Eagle Builders

Eagle Builders were looking for a partner who had the experience and expertise in office furniture and could accurately plan and supply furniture solutions for their head office project. We were able to rapidly respond to the design requests and curate a custom package of furniture that reflected their culture, matched the needs of their employees, and complemented the contemporary design of their flagship building.

Discover. The first step in working together is connecting for a consultation where we identify your current challenges, needs, and what you hope to achieve with your workspace. From here, we develop our action plan which determines the type of solutions, furniture, and accessories are required to achieve the space you want and need.

Workspace

Fire & Flower

Fire & Flower's downtown Edmonton office was looking for a fun and modern concept. They needed boardrooms and meeting rooms, as well as a cafeteria area for staff. The project was based around an open-plan work style, using agile workspaces with height-adjustable desks and seating.

To support the culture of freedom and task fluidity, we used workstations with mobile caddies for storage and a bold seat cushion to encourage stop-by conversations. The offices have height adjustable desks with additional box/file pedestals and a combination wardrobe for storage to support the employees.

Workspace

Vision Credit Union

Vision Credit Union required an updated furniture solution for all of their branches. Not only did they want a modernized look, but they wanted to work with a vendor who they could trust and would service them well. We were able to provide spaces that are welcoming to customers as well as functional areas for staff while meeting their desired look, budget, and timeline.

Design. We consider design a hands-on partnership. There are designers who create a space solely for their personal taste, while others tend to over design a space. We'll work together with you to create the best design possible. We balance creativity and functionality, ensuring we have the right mix. Some of our clients want a high degree of design elements and others don't. We make sure that the creative aspects are integrated as part of the design, but not at the expense of real-world functionality.

Workspace

First United Community Church

First United Community Church was looking to create a space that utilized the unique architectural elements that their existing building offered without undergoing major renovations. We provided them with quiet space for staff by adding activity based workstations and also created a flexible solution by providing movable hoteling stations and phone booths so that their space can be quickly reconfigured as needed.

Deliver. In the final step of our process, we provide an easy and enjoyable delivery. Our support and customer service does not end at installation. Let's talk about how we help you before and after your furniture is set up.

Post-Secondary

NAIT Admin Tower

NAIT was looking for assistance in moving workstations into their new building and utilizing furniture pieces they already had. We were able to take care of the move, repurpose existing assets and utilize their new space and inventory to give them a beautiful, new layout with supplement furniture pieces where needed to complete the space. They have a wonderful, practical, and custom-tailored space with executive conference seating, curated work and office space, and staff lounge and café seating.

After Delivery. We ensure your space is set up properly and everyone is confident with the features of their new furniture. We take care of the technology integration, and assist with setting up monitors and devices. We do a functionality knowledge transfer with your users to make the transition as seamless as possible.

We have a five point installation sign off process to ensure our customers are satisfied and ready to use their space and we are always available for questions, changes, growth, or moves.

Post-Secondary

NAIT Productivity and Innovation Centre

NAIT was looking for a new, outside the box space and a partner who could provide value added solutions and deliver flexible workspaces that could be adapted in size and functionality. Their goal was to create a place where they could expand ideas and explore solutions. The space was designed for use by post-secondary school users and industry partners alike and required furniture that catered to their needs and demonstrated durability. We provided lounge seating, café areas, privacy booths, outdoor patio seating, lounge seating, conference and presentation areas, and task areas to allow easy idea sharing, collaboration, and execution.

These Hybrid Workplaces provide touchdown spaces for staff on days in the office, collaborative working spaces to effectively work on projects, and individual meeting spaces to allow employees to meet deadlines and work without interruption.

Staff surveys and studies continue to show that employees value working both from home and the office. How are you supporting your employees to flourish, do their best, and feel supported?

Hybrid Working Concepts

Imagine an environment where collaboration and creativity thrive, where staff love to hang out every day because they feel comfortable in an environment that supports what they need to do, where productivity skyrockets, and goals are exceeded time and time again.

A hybrid workplace, or hybrid office, is a flexible workplace model that is designed to support a distributed workforce of both in-office and remote workers.

The start of this decade created an increased need for flexible and hybrid working, Will it be the new working style for you to help your employees feel comfortable, productive, and meet and exceed their goals?
